At noon John C. Cowell spoke at the knitting mill, and the rest of the party conducted a service at the Louisville and Nashville shop-gates.

Mothers were requested to leave their children at the nursery at the Y. M. C. A. This has been fitted up with beds and toys and will be supervised by Mrs. C. J. Randolph and Mrs.
Black. Mothers may hear the sermons without interruption.

One of the largest week night crowds greeted the evangelist last night when he continued his message on "Present Day Conditions." Tonight he will speak on "How to Meet These Conditions." After reading the Revelation 13 and explaining the references to the beast and showing how these prophecies are being literally fulfilled Mr. Ham took his text from Psalm 11, "If the foundations be destroyed what can the righteous do?"

He spoke of the leaders of infidelity as the devil incarnate and assured his hearers that they could not tear down satan with the arm of flesh. The foundation of the nation is its manhood. When this is degenerated and corrupted the nation will fall from within not from without. He quoted Henry Watterson as saying "Civilizations reach a certain height and then turn back." "Our nation," said he, "reached its height before the late war. Intellectually and morally we have been on the down grade since.
The foundation of manhood is character. It is spiritual."

"The enemies of our nation propose to tear it down. First, by discrediting the clergy, whose influence over the people is diminishing daily," they say.

"The enemy also says 'no one will be allowed to discuss our religion.'" He said that a movie star discredits Christianity on the screen and that "ministers are always shown up as asses while the giant organization laughed at the prospect of evangelical Christians against this practice. Next, they propose to tear down our nation by controlling and confusing public opinion. They control all amusements and news."

"Real news is not given the papers while murder stories and slime are sent out. The enemy goes on to boast that 'if any one dares to write against us no one will publish it.' This is seen in the fact that if any preacher preaches against Christ his sermon is broadcast over the land but the other side is held out."

"They boast that they will 'turn the people into thoughtless obedient animals, easily deceived.' Next they propose to 'educate by false theories of science.'"

The startling statement was made that 3,000 college professors are under the pay of this Bolshevik organization. "Note the success," they say, "we are having in spreading the teachings of Darwin and Neitche. We turn witless heads by the word 'progress.'"

"Where can we send our boys and girls? They return from college having no use for the churches and no

Murray Meets Pinchot In Strike Parley

Gifford Pinchot
International President of the United Mine Workers

Because of his illness in Atlantic City, John L. Lewis, international president of the United Mine Workers, was unable to attend the last minute conference in Harrisburg, Pa., called by Governor Gifford Pinchot, at the request of President Coolidge, in an effort to avert a strike in the anthracite coal fields. He was represented by Phillip Murray, international vice-president.

BOMBSHELL HURLED IN LEAGUE COUNCIL

(By Associated Press)
GENEVA, Sept. 5.—Italy's representative, Signor Salandry, told the council of the League of Nations today that Italy would regard intervention by the League in the crisis as unjustified. The League, he asserted, had no competency in the affair, which belonged properly to the international council of ambassadors.

Signor Salandry's statement created a sensation in the council chamber.
Lord Robert Cecil of England, added a sensation by insisting that articles 10, 12 and 15 of the covenant of the League should be read immediately, both in French and English and by declaring if these articles were to be disregarded, the whole settlement of Europe would be shaken.

The articles in question were cited by Greece as the basis of her appeal to the League and stipulated the council of the League had clear right to investigate when there is danger of rupture between any states which are members of the League.

Further discussion of the Greek situation was adjourned to an unfixed date, but perhaps tomorrow, in order to give the members an opportunity to examine the Italian declaration and decide their future attitude toward the crisis.

R. G. CORTNER WILL CONDUCT BUSINESS

Announcement was made Wednesday of the complete dissolution of the cotton firm of Harris, Cortner and company, which, for many years, has been one of the largest organizations of its kind in North Alabama.

At the same time announcement was made that the company will be operated in the future by R. G. Cortner one of the former partners, under the firm name of R. G. Cortner. The change is effective September 1, it was stated. The announcement is signed by H. D. Bynum, R. N. Harris, Jr., S. S. Fleicher and R. G. Cortner.

Offices of the new company will be the ones formerly occupied by the old one on Bank Street.

HEALTH UNITS MAY LOSE SOME MONEY

Federal Appropriation
May Be Cut Off
After 3 Years

SHARPE URGING SOLONS TO ACT

Would Have the State Make Provisions For County Units

The county health units, in this county and throughout the state, are in real danger of losing some of their departments, stated Dr. W. K.
Sharpe, Jr. of Florence, while here on his way to Montgomery.

Dr. Sharpe is the federal sanitary official for the entire Tennessee Valley, and has been "borrowed" by the state board of health for the time being. He was assigned to the Tennessee Valley by the federal government at the request of the officials of the state board of health.

The immediate cause of the danger of loss of efficiency to the health units is that fact that the time limit on some of the appropriations from national funds to the health units expires this fall. According to the plan of the foundations which furnish some one to three thousand dollars a year to county health units, they do not support a given department except for about three years, then the expectation is that the counties and state will furnish the money for the maintenance of such departments.

Moreover, stated Dr. Sharpe, unless a county unit does keep up the work started by the various foundations, funds that these foundations would gladly let remain in the county for the establishment of a one or more additional health activities are withdrawn entirely from the county which fails to "appreciate" the help rendered. In other words Dr. Sharpe said that the donors of the large amounts of money to be used in fighting diseases, act on the Bible principle that "from him that hath not shall be taken away even that which he hath."

Just at this time Dr. Sharpe is urging members of the state general assembly to vote such funds for the health work in the counties, as may be needed to take the place of those funds about to be withdrawn. The public service committee of the Morgan Kwanian Club, through S. A.
Lynne, chairman, has written Representative Forman, and possibly other legislators urging that the health units be supported to the limit. Dr.
Sharpe has left for Montgomery where he will encourage the solons to keep up the good work in protecting human beings from the ravages of disease.

BODIES OF GIRL AND YOUTH ARE FOUND

BEAUMONT, Texas, Sept. 5.—The bodies of Bessie Carl, 16, of Houston, and P. O. Rial, shipping clerk of this city, today were found near the spot where their car was found abandoned yesterday. The couple had been missing since Saturday night when they disappeared after attending a moving picture show.

Automobile Saved By Use Chemicals

The first fire in the consolidated city occurred last night at 10:45 o'clock, in an automobile parked on Sherman street near the Somerville road. The machine was the property of James Collier, of Priceville, and sustained damages to the amount of near $30.00. Mr. Collier had left his car to enter a residence on Sherman street, and on his return found flames had enveloped the front end of the car and on their way to the gasoline tank. Chief W. H. Sorber got the alarm, and reached the burning car in time to save it by the use of chemicals.

HUGE TUNNELS ARE DRILLED AT THE DAM

Safety Precautions To Prevent Breaks In Structure Taken

'DECAYED' STONE IS SEARCHED FOR

Large Sum Is Spent To Build Safeguards
About Big Dam

Unanimity of opinion as to just where to locate Wilson Dam has always existed, stated Colonel M. C.
Tyler, assistant to Colonel George R.
Spaulding in charge of the construction of the dam, when recently that official allowed the writer to accompany him to all parts of Wilson dam.

Nature's hand placed mighty ledges of rock on either side of the Tennessee river where the new structure stands thus furnishing mighty anchoring places into which the dam is anchored.

In speaking of the dam Colonel Tyler, while full of statistics as to almost every "why and wherefore" in the construction of the great project, would not trust his memory, and desired not to be quoted, with any attempt at exactitude. One thing the builder did say however which created a deep impression, namely that two tunnels, each 1,600 feet long, have been dug on the south side of the dam. These tunnels extend directly south and one of them starts near the water's edge at the south end of the dam and continues south while the other starts about thirty feet directly above the first tunnel and continues south 1,600 feet. Why those tunnels? They were made, in an effort to find any "decayed" stone—any weak place in the south side anchorage area lest if there were "bad places" anywhere, 1,600 feet south of the south end of the dam, they could be made "good" by application of ground stone, called cement.

In other words, as Col. Tyler agreed, just as a dentist drills far down into a tooth, and removes all decay, before the cement filling is inserted in the tooth, so men have drilled tunnels into the anchorage areas about Wilson Dam to make sure that in future ages water shall not seep in through rotten pores of stone, and little by little undermine the greatest dam of modern times. It cost the fabulous sum of $500,000 in good money to thus insure Wilson Dam with the two tunnels mentioned to say nothing of the other similar tunnels, against another Johnstown flood.

Just as the dam was thus insured against "side-mining," it is also insured against "under-mining," great tunnels having been driven far below the river bed of that part of the river under the dam, lest "rotten rock" give the persistent billions of water drops a chance to "under-mine" the Muscle Shoals dam. If the human mind would follow an imagination there far ramifications, out from Wilson dam, from each end of it, and from the bottom of the dam, then some of the idea that the dam is too great to be understood, could be done away with. In other words, if the 4,700 men that Col. Tyler said now work on the dam, could by human imagination be turned into one huge, mighty dentist, and the proposed Wilson Dam, thought of a mighty "white filling" to be placed water tight in the mighty excavation made for the dam, then just as we can understand the process of filling a tooth, so could we grasp the idea of how Wilson Dam is being built.
Just as it takes a dentist a long time to "fill" a tooth, just so it will take our imaginary dentist a long time to complete Wilson Dam. It will take two more years yet, to finish the longed for structure and then one more year to put the finishing touches on it, and to install the electric generators, turbines, and other essential machinery, before the Tennessee is harnessed and ready to do the bidding of Henry Ford.

NEGRO PROTECTION BILL IS ADOPTED

(Associated Press.)
MONTGOMERY, Ala., Sept. 5.—A bill passed the senate providing for the prevention of intimidation of negro servants and designed to protect them from violence at the hands of certain residents of Cullman, Ala.

A report will be made tomorrow before the senate members of the port bill amendment, it is said. The Mobile port enabling bill will be offered with considerable amendment, those of the committee state. Among the amendments proposed by the committee members is a reduction of the dock board to three members, limiting the expenditures of the first year to $1-000,000 and for the remainder of the present dock board administration to $3,000,000 and deeding the lands on which the docks are erected to the state of Alabama.

Both houses of the legislature adjournd last Tuesday afternoon until Wednesday morning.

The Confederate pension bill, the child welfare bill and the military appropriation measures are now before the governor for his signature.

Under the pension bill, veterans and widows of veterans will receive $25 each month in the future.

The welfare measure provides an appropriation of $50,000 for the department of child welfare and for an annual appropriation thereafter.

The military appropriation bill raises the state's amount from $50,000 to $83,000 per annum for the national guard of Alabama.

Cotton Crop In Heavy Decline

Nearly All States
Report Damage
From Weevils
And Worms

(By Associated Press)

ATLANTA, Sept. 5.—All states in the southeast, with the exception of Tennessee, registered a "heavy decline in the condition of cotton, due to the unfavorable weather, boll weevil and leaf worm during the period August 1 to September 1, according to a statement issued by the bureau of agriculture and economics of the United States department of agriculture here today.

"As indicated by previous reports, disaster due to the boll weevil, has overtaken the crop in Southern Georgia and Florida, with severe damage in the southern half of Alabama," reads the official statement.

"The crop in Northern Georgia fructified splendidly during the period, although the weevil damage is now becoming very noticeable and rains have caused considerable shedding."

"The fact that a large portion of the farmers in Northern Georgia are using poison is a factor in favor of the crop there. Weevils are puncturing bolls and taking enormous toll in South Carolina, leaving no crop whatever. While there is complaint of weevils from all sections of Tennessee, the damage was below expectations. The leaf worm is about checked there, with small damage. The crop in Tennessee and Northern Alabama is still very late."

"North Carolina is now feeling the effects of the weevil for the first time since the invasion. This, together with adverse weather conditions, accounts for the unusual decline in the state."

MAJOR CASES TO BE HEARD NEXT WEEK

James Moss, J. Tally Moss and Doss Hardy were arraigned before Judge James E. Horton in the circuit court at 2:20 o'clock today in connection with the deaths of Clayton and Hugh Boggs, and Wednesday of next week was set as the day of their trial. A special jury will be secured for these cases, it was stated at the court house.

The balance of this week in the circuit court now in session here, is expected to be consumed with the hearing of minor criminal cases.

Next week the major criminal cases such as that of the Moss brothers in connection with the charge against them of murder in the first degree, are expected to come to a jury trial.

Tuesday of next week has been set for the trial of Earle Orr, charged with murder and a special jury has already been drawn to decide upon the negro's guilt or innocence.

This morning the court opened on the minute set therefore, with Judge James E. Horton presiding. The Judge asked that all jurors, not on active duty, retire from the court room, as the case first called might have some bearing on cases to be heard later.

The first case concerned the guilt or innocence of parties charged with burglary in connection with the robbery of the store of R. L. Henderson, near Somerville, about two years ago.

Attorneys were watching for and seeking advantageous positions in this case the moment it was opened, and indications were that a determined effort will be made by Major Long and his associates to clear their clients.
The state is being represented in this case by Solicitor D. C. Almon.

Two cases disposed of yesterday were against negroes charged with stealing merchandise and hogs. Both defendants were cleared. One white man was found guilty late yesterday of improper relations with a young woman said to have been under the age of 16 years and he was sentenced to two years imprisonment.

County Solicitor T. C. Almon spends most of his time with the grand jury which is in session in the room of the board of revenue. He stated that the jury was working faithfully and many true bills are expected by the end of this week.

STORY OF HORROR IS NOT YET TOLD

Fragmentary Reports
Seem To Indicate
No Exaggeration

NATION TRYING TO HELP ITSELF

Aid From Across The Pacific Is Nearing
Japanese Ports

(By Associated Press)

As the story of the Japanese disaster is unfolded in the fragmentary messages of press association correspondents, Japanese newspapers and individuals, it is apparent that the magnitude of the catastrophe has not been overdrawn.

In only one dispatch has there been a suggestion that the death list will not reach the proportions already indicated. This was a message from the Radio Corporation of America, which said that the Japanese home office estimated the deaths in Tokio at 10-000 and in Yokohama at 100,000.

On the other hand Admiral Kusunoki A. Anderson, commanding the United States Asiatic fleet says the latest unofficial report gives the number of dead and 450,000 injured.

Naval officers in San Francisco believe Admiral Anderson's estimate of conditions in Japan.

Another estimate, coming from the United States Asiatic fleet, says that 320,000 persons were killed in the entire disaster.

Fresh calamity has overtaken smitten Tokio and the terrible re-manant of its population.

Nearly 10,000 people, according to reports, are in the yard of a military factory, located in a suburb, trapped by flames and awaiting death. Food and water are scarce.

216 distinct earthquakes were felt in Tokio last Saturday followed by 57 on Sunday. The most severe tremor was of 6 minutes duration. The flames that swept the capital burned for 36 hours, leaving Tokio and its environs in ruins and destruction. Fire and earth have devastated an area of 11 square miles in and about Tokio, demolishing 350,000 houses.

The suffering of Yokohama too appears not to have been exaggerated.
An official statement received by Uoyama, the Japanese consul general in San Francisco, says the great port itself and the naval station have been wiped out. This message, sent by the former Japanese consul general who is now in Shanghai, added that more than one half of Tokio had been destroyed.

From Osaka comes a dispatch that a new volcano had broken out in the vicinity of Chichibu, 50 miles northwest of Tokio.

Meanwhile the Japanese cities and towns, unaffected by the disaster, are bending every effort to relieve the conditions of the millions believed to be suffering from injury or lack of food. Cargoes of rice are arriving at Yokohama.

The efforts of the Japanese themselves are soon to be augmented by aid from across the Pacific. Seven United States destroyers and a cruiser are speeding to Yokohama with supplies while two army transports expect to leave today. Shipping board steamers in Pacific coast ports have been instructed to suspend freight and passenger bookings for 30 days in order to insure shipping of relief supplies.

Three persons are sharing a single piece of bread in Tokio. It is reported that all Methodist missionaries in the stricken district are believed to be safe.

NEW YORK, Sept. 5.—Two official messages, received today, at the offices of the Japanese consul general, estimated the casualties in Tokio and its vicinity from the earthquake at 160,000, with 1,000,000 persons homeless.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 5.—All Americans in Tokio are believed to be safe.
Ambassador Woods reported today to the state department that the

TWIN CITIES UNITED.

After many long weary years of struggle and agitation the twin Alabama cities of Decatur and Albany have formally united in one municipality under the old name of Decatur. This will unquestionably prove advantageous to the citizens and property owners of both towns. There may have been good reason long years ago for two separate municipalities, but there is assuredly none now. The cost of government should be less and it should be more efficient with a larger unit. Moreover it is the general experience of government that the larger the unit the higher class of men who can be induced to accept official place.

For many years the Decatur Daily, published at Albany, has advocated this union of the two towns. It has been a long hard fight that W. R. Shelton, the editor, and a former Maury Countian, has made to achieve this reform, and his many friends in Maury County will rejoice at his success. He has lost several preliminary contests, but kept bravely on until the victory was secured. But for the sentiment that Mr. Shelton's paper created the movement would probably never have succeeded. This shows the value to a community of an aggressive medium of publicity.—Columbia Herald.

GETTING THE NEWS AND GETTING IT RIGHT.

From time to time The Daily has called the attention of its readers to the value of news and asked their co-operation in getting all available news for the columns of The Daily.

Any assistance given in "capturing" news items will be greatly appreciated and such help will be considered a real service.

A word of caution will not be out of place against failure to exercise a due care as to the sources of news and as to the absolute accuracy of all reports. The Daily, of course, wishes to be early with the news, but it is much more concerned for the truthfulness of all matter it prints. The desire to get all the news is not the same as the desire to get all the news right.

and then get it printed as quickly as possible. The life of all papers is the "news," but the value of all news first and foremost depends upon it being "the fact in the case."

The assistance given by the friends of The Daily in gathering the news of the community and of the whole county is greatly appreciated, and we hope those who have assisted in this service in the past will keep up the good work.

JUDGE HORTON UTTERS WORDS OF POWER IN THE CIRCUIT COURT OPENING.

Morgan County undoubtedly gives its approval to the sentiment expressed by Judge Horton in his delivery of charge to the grand jury now in session at the court house.

The eighteen members of the jury are expected to respond enthusiastically to the wishes expressed by Judge Horton relative to the enforcement of all law.

The jury was charged against allowing malice to influence any single word or act during its deliberations. The jury was requested to keep in mind that secrecy was to be maintained as to the nature of all alleged crimes, the identity of those accused and those making the accusations.

Judge Horton congratulated this section on the absence of mob violence and called attention to the fact that when people take the law into their own hands that the liberty, so highly prized by the Anglo-Saxon race, is endangered. It goes without saying that Judge Horton spoke in opposition to the public attempting to mete out justice without taking the matter into the courts that have been established solely for that purpose.

It was referred to by the judge that where a felony had been committed, the jury had no discretion and must indict, but where it appeared that misdemeanors had been committed the jury might indict or refuse to make true bills according to its best judgment, always keeping in mind the public good.

If the people enter into the spirit of law abiding citizens in the same manner in which Judge Horton delivered his charge, it is obvious that this section will soon learn the distinction between fame and notoriety.

SENATOR LODGE PAYS A TRIBUTE TO THE PRESIDENT.

During the course of his address on the occasion of a big celebration held lately in Boston, Senator Henry Cabot Lodge delivered an address which, according to newspaper reports, must have created a profound impression upon his hearers.

A large part of the address was made in reference to President Harding and his sudden death, but a reference to President Coolidge by Mr. Lodge indicates that the President has the entire approval of the senior senator from Massachusetts. The tribute to Mr. Coolidge makes good reading matter and marks Senator Lodge as a man who can make a good speech when the occasion seems to demand it. The following is an excerpt from reference of Mr. Lodge to the President:

"If in the Divine wisdom this heavy sorrow was fated to come upon us, we may deem ourselves highly fortunate in the man upon whom the great responsibility under the terms of the Constitution was thus suddenly imposed. President Coolidge is one of our own, our very own. We know him and honor him and believe in him, and the trust we feel will, we are sure, soon be shared by the whole country. Sprung in unbroken descent from the men and women who settled and built up New England, it is needless to say that he is a thorough American in the broadest and finest sense of the word. Born on a farm, educated at one of our best colleges, trained to a great profession, he has been a reader of books, a student of men and of history and, what is even more full of meaning, he is a thinker, capable not only of independent but, what is equally as important, of connected thought upon every subject to which he addresses himself. He is a man of distinguished ability, wise, careful and courageous, of unselfish character in private and in public life, experienced in dealing with grave questions of state. It would be strange, indeed, if we who know him best did not feel an assured confidence in his power to render the highest service to the country without either fear or favor."

It will be noted that Lodge claims Coolidge as "one of our own, our very own," which is to say that the President is ranked with Lodge himself, with the Cabots, and with the Adams—all great people, worthy people, and it is said of them that they talk only among themselves—and with God, when the really serious concerns of the nation are under discussion.

Straw Hat Diet Is Provided 'Billy'

The advent of fall as touching the straw hat trade was signalized today by the appearance in the front show windows of the W. W. Rahm Clothing company of a milk white goat, whose duty and pleasure it was to eat of various sundry and drier straw pieces, until recently worn by citizens of Decatur.

Some delay was occasioned in putting the goat on the job, owing to failure of workmen to get the pen ready, but now goat heaven reigns in the enclosure.

As Mr. Rahm is regular in all his actions he of course named the white goat "Billy," in honor of the many millions of his goats of the long past which bore that familiar cognomen.

He does not appear to have gone without food for long periods, in fact the goat seems to have had a much more nourishing diet than straw hats in the past and he has not eaten the old straw hats with the relish expected.

However it is quite possible the goat is not sure they are for him and not intended for future wear, and that when he finds out the hats are for eating purposes only, "Billy" will eat more freely of his once expensive diet.

respect for their parents. Only 25 out of 100 college presidents and only 17 out of 100 teachers of biology admit the being of God. During the late war many 'pro-Germans' were turned out of our universities as traitors. They were on the pay roll of the Third Internationale. They are tools of the devil to demoralize society. I have been in the largest museums of the world and there is no evidence that cows have ever been anything but cows since they were created. So with monkeys and men and other creatures. If monkeys evolved men, why don't they keep on evolving? Have monkeys only quit changing? It may be they have all dropped their tails and become college professors. The evolutionist cannot believe in the virgin birth of the Christ nor the in the fall of man as they say man fell upwards.

"This Bolshevik organization proposes to 'divert attention to games, sports and athletics and to keep people from thinking.' Note the great stadiums that are being built today. They are forgetting spirituality. They propose to corrupt the nation with wine, women and movies. It is a sinister conspiracy against Christ and Christianity. 'We are creating a senseless, filthy, disgusting literature.' Then they attack the home, the first government ever established. They propose to establish universal suffrage and break down family life. These feminist movements fool many people."

The minister quoted many leading suffrage leaders as saying "motherhood must be independent of any man."

"This diabolical blasphemy of free love aims at the destruction of the home and of civilization. The German boys were taught that man was created for war and that woman for the relaxation of the warrior. If they are taught that man and woman are beasts no wonder the German soldiers did not consider Belgian women virtuous. If evolutionists desire to teach let them get out of Christian colleges and teach in infidel schools."

Judge Kyle Holds
Court In Florence

Judge O. Kyle, presiding judge of the eighth circuit, is in Florence, where he is holding court for Judge Charles P. Almon, who is suffering an attack of malarial fever. The court probably will be in session several weeks.

The following tribute is paid to Judge Kyle by The Florence Daily News: "Judge Kyle, whose home is in Decatur, is well known in Florence. He was at one time one of the federal judges of the Panama Canal Zone. He is an excellent lawyer and jurist and business will be dispatched promptly under his supervision."

The Concentrated Angler.

A gentleman hesitates to bother anybody whose mind is concentrated on his fishing. The expert knows by experience one question leads to another, then on to begging, borrowing or buying. The expert knows that tyros are never provided with tackle, bait, or reasonable consideration for others. They expect the whole boatload of anglers to wait on them because they catch no fish.—Louis Rhead.

SAVED SICK SPELLS

Black-Draught Found Valuable by a Texas Farmer, Who Has Known Its Usefulness Over 30 Years.

Nashville, Tenn.—"I have used Theodor's Black-Draught for years—I am nearly 70 years of age, and I can testify for more than 30 years," declares Mr. H. H. Cromer, a substantial, well-known farmer, residing out from here on Route 1.

"I am 48 years old, and when a small boy I had indigestion and was puny and my father gave me a liver regulator. Then Black-Draught was advertised and we heard of it."

"I began to take Black-Draught, and have used it, when needed, ever since. I use Black-Draught now in my home, and certainly recommend it for any liver trouble."

"I have given it a thorough trial, and after thirty years can say Black-Draught is my stand-by. It has saved me many sick spells."

Mr. Cromer writes that he is "never out of Black-Draught," and says several of his neighbors prefer it to any other liver medicine. "I always recommend Black-Draught to my friends," he adds.

This valuable, old, powdered liver medicine is prepared from medicinal roots and herbs, and has none of the bad effects so often observed from the use of calomel, or other powerful mineral drugs. Be sure to get the genuine, Theodor's. NC-145

"The casualties in Tokio are estimated at 10,000. I believe all Americans in Tokio are safe. The food situation is acute. Send supplies from Philippines at once, as already requested."

Second Bale Of Cotton Ginned

The second bale of cotton received on the local market came in today. It was grown by Frank Preuitt, whose farm is just west of here on the Courtland pike. The cotton was ginned by D. S. Echols and sold to Jones Cotton company, bringing 25c a pound. The bale weighed 565 pounds. The seed netted the owner $35 a ton.

The first cotton bale of the season to be ginned at the Home Oil Mill here was ginned for K. B. Holland Wednesday morning free of all charges. The Home Oil Mill bought the new bale which weighed 510 pounds, paying thirty cents per pound for it. The cotton graded strict middling and "pulled" one inch in length.

The seed from which this cotton grew was a new variety and Mr. Holland himself has been developing the seed for several years, with great success. The cotton was of the pure white variety and showed practically no stains.

Sam Jones Pitches A No-Hit Contest

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Sept. 5.—Samuel Jones of the New York Americans pitched the first no-hit, no-run game of the season in the major leagues yesterday, blanking the Athletics, 2 to 0.

Jones was in great form. Only 29 men faced him, of whom three reached first base. Galloway received a base on balls in the first inning.

In the eighth inning Welch reached first on Scott's fumble of his grounder and Dykes got on when he forced Welch at second. Jones had no strikeouts. The Yankees gave him wonderful support and many of the stops and throws were of a spectacular nature. There were nine outfield outs and '18 in the infield, two of the latter being fouls to the catcher. The real fielding feature was made by a member of the home team when Welch leaned against the right field wall and pulled down a drive from Ward's bat in the ninth inning that looked like a certain home run.

There was much cheering among the fans when pitcher Jones went to the mound in the ninth. Many in the crowd wanted to see him get a no-hit game. With two out Galloway tried hard to reach first base on a bunt, but was beaten by a step by the all. Hasty pitched good enough ball for the Athletics to win any ordinary game. He allowed only seven hits and walked only one man.

When you run out of Gasoline!

there is a most effective danger signal to warn you—your car comes to a stop without any particular amount of damage being done. It is different when you run out of lubricating oil in your motor: there are no warning signals, nothing to flag your attention until great damage has been done.

The greatest single factor in the economical and efficient operation of a motor car is the proper lubrication of its engine. Sufficient quantity, the right quality, the proper weight or grade, and the frequent replacement of oil are the things you want to watch.

You can solve all these problems by putting nothing in your crank case but Polarine, consulting the chart of recommendations to determine just what grade your car requires, and renewing your oil completely after it has been used for six or seven hundred miles.

There is no variation in the quality of Polarine. Wherever you see a dealer who displays a Polarine sign, you may feel assured that you can get there the finest motor oil on the market to-day.

PRINCESS TODAY

Society folk are not the only people that spend several weeks of the winter season at Palm Beach. For the Irvin Willat Paramount production of "Fog Bound," in which Dorothy Dalton is the star and which will be the feature at the Princess theater today was transported there on location to shoot scenes for the picture.

"Fog Bound," as adapted for use on the screen from Jack Bechdel's story by Paul Dickey, is the story of a girl living on an orange ranch in Florida who finds the man she loves accused of the murder of her father, a revenue officer. Torn between loyalty to her parent and love for the accused Dale Brenon, portrayed by Miss Dalton, is given the finest opportunity of her career to display her talents as an emotional actress. "Fog Bound" is an interesting and thrilling melodrama from start to finish, and it is said to be one of the foremost successes of the current season.

The Railroads Help To Educate Your Children

The Railroads contribute a very generous share towards the education of the children of this country. They bear a goodly percentage of the tax burden which provides for the building and the maintenance of public schools. A large part of the total of more than $300,000,000 which the Railroads pay yearly in State, County and City taxes, is utilized by the various communities to construct school buildings, purchase equipment and provide an efficient teaching corps for the proper education of children.

The Railroads also help the cause of education by making possible the wide distribution of newspapers, magazines and other forms of educational matter—bringing the people who live in remote hamlets in closer touch with the work and progress of the world.

The Railroads enable the boys and girls who live on the farms or in the towns to go cheaply and quickly to wherever the finest, specialized educational facilities are offered—anywhere in the whole United States.

The Railroads also provide one of the greatest means of education—that of travel.

Within the territory served by the L. & N., and to which this Railroad contributes its quota of the cost of public education, are found some of the finest public school systems, universities, colleges, military, private and sectarian schools in the United States.

THE OLD RELIABLE

CULTURED CLAIRE

By JANE GOODELL

CLAIRE was industriously trying to make the shabby living room look like the pictures in the latest furniture advertisement.

"The only thing this furniture is good for is the junk heap," she grumbled. "Why on earth won't dad let us fix things up a little? The trouble with him and all the rest of you is that you lack refinement," and she flashed a haughty look at Mag, who was watching her from the doorway.

"Oh, can the culture, sis," Mag retorted. "Pop's all right and so are most of the rest of us. The trouble is, you're trying to be a high-brow. Why the decorations just because you're going to have a beau?" and she pointed to a vase holding two rather wilted carnations which Claire had brought home from the store.

But Claire was too busily engaged in placing some books carelessly on the table to reply.

"Books surely do lend an air, Mag," she said. "Wish I had time to stop at the library to get a book by George Elliot. Oswald mentioned one last evening and I said I had read some of his books but had forgotten their names. These two books of poetry will make up for it, though. How does my hair look? These jade earrings are the very latest."

"Sara loaned them to me. You see, Oswald is real class. He has charge of the gente furnishings and makes good money. Mother gave me her word that all the rest of the family would stay in the kitchen tonight. They would only queer me; you know that."

Being one of the family designated for the culinary department and the time near at hand for the arrival of Oswald, Mag took her sewing and joined the less refined members of her family. Claire heard them laugh uproariously on her arrival. She knew that they were having some fun at her expense. But that was her trial in being different from the rest. After locking the door against Bob's possible entrance to "queer" her, she settled herself on the old-fashioned sofa, the light rather low, with the poems and thoughts of Oswald.

Good-looking Oswald. No more clerking in stores, if he married her. Fine clothes. Thus the time slipped by.

Oswald, meantime, tapped on the door in a gentlemanly way, but the loud rendition of the "Deep Sea Blues" on a nearby neighbor's player piano entirely drowned out his tapping.

Claire had drawn the shades to the lowest possible point, so the impression made on the outsider was that the house was in darkness. Seeing a bright light in the rear of the house and hearing merry bursts of laughter from a partly open window, Oswald walked around and tapped just as gentlemanly on the rear door.

"Come in," called dad, rather expecting a friend for his evening game of checkers.

"May I introduce myself?" said the polite Oswald. "You surely look like a happy family. Being alone in this city I don't often run into anything like this."

"Have a chair and help settle some of our disputes," said the hospitable dad, offering him a cigar. "Bring more coffee and doughnuts, mother."

Oswald seemed quite at ease. "That looks like a work of art, Miss Margaret," he said. "May I ask just what it is?"

"It's a new paisley blouse," responded Mag with a display of white teeth and pretty dimples. "We have to hand it to old King Tut for these swanky oriental affairs. He sure made us all get busy and follow his styles. But, say, dad, show Mr. Oswald that book I brought from the library. You see, dad's quite up on archeology himself, and it was of Egypt we were talking when you came in. I asked the librarian for a book on oriental collections. Incidentally I copied this blouse from a picture of Pharaoh's wife. Dad thinks—"

But what dad thought was not what Oswald thought and the argument was hot.

Mother brought a fresh supply of doughnuts and coffee and time slipped by.

A noise as if a high-heeled shoe were thrown viciously on the floor roused them a little from their conversation. Another followed at a short interval and there was a pause in the talk.

"It's Claire getting ready for bed. That's the way she acts when she's peevish at something," said Bob, his enunciation being as distinct as was possible without doing an injustice to a large red apple, the third he had devoured that evening.

"Why, can it be bedtime?" Looking at his watch, Oswald verified his own question. "But Miss Claire," he gasped. "I came to call on Miss Claire. Perhaps, though, she forgot and went out for the evening. I'm afraid I've intruded on you folks too long. But I've surely enjoyed the evening. Learned a lot, too, Mr. Dennis."

"And, Mag—Miss Margaret, how about looking over those Egyptian specimens at the museum on Saturday? And, by the way, if the little paisley blouse is finished, wear it. We may go somewhere for dinner."

SOUTHERN RAILWAY SYSTEM

Keeping pace with the South

The first American locomotive to enter actual service was the "Best Friend" of 1830. Built in a New York foundry, shipped by sea to Charleston, it hauled the first passenger train on what is now the Southern Railway System.

Twenty-two hundred locomotives, some of them fifty times as heavy as this famous pioneer engine, and 70,000 cars, operating on 8,300 miles of Southern Railway System lines, are now doing the work that was begun by the "Best Friend."

From the Ohio and the Potomac to the Gulf, from the Atlantic to the Mississippi, the far-flung rails of the Southern reach across twelve states with 40,000,000 inhabitants.

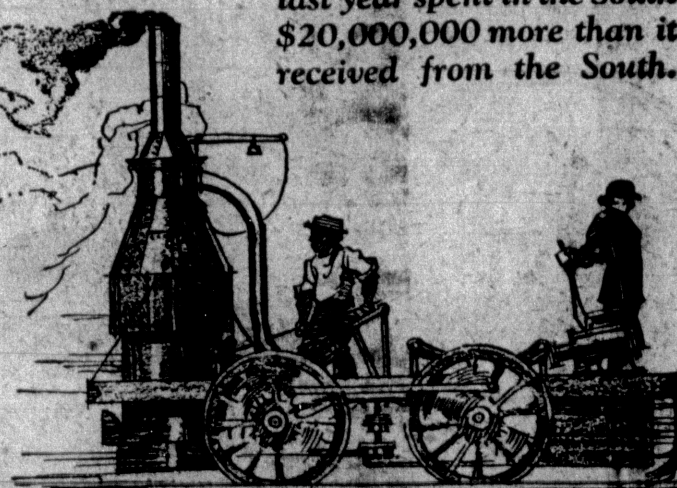

The Southern serves the South—from the northern gateways at Washington, Cincinnati and Louisville—and the western gateways at St. Louis and Memphis—to the ocean ports of Norfolk, Charleston, Savannah, Brunswick and Jacksonville—and the Gulf ports of Mobile and New Orleans.

Operated by men of the South, who have been bred in its traditions to understand its problems and its needs, the Southern keeps pace with the South. The investment in its properties is now more than $710,000,000, of which $285,000,000 has been expended in the past two decades.

With the continued cooperation of the people of the South, we will be enabled to command the capital for the greater transportation facilities that Southern development will inevitably demand.

Southern Railway System last year spent in the South $20,000,000 more than it received from the South.
